HITLER WEIGHING APPEAL BY POPE

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 9—Pope Pius' invitation to join in a five-power conference at Vatican City for pacification of Europe was foremost among the vital matters discussed by Chancellor Hitler and Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop in a lengthy consultation at Munich today, it was learned on high authority.

Responsible quarters said the Pope's proposals can be taken "as a sincere endeavor by an honest leader to find ways and means of assuring peace, contrary to President Roosevelt's thinly-veiled publicity stunt."

This referred to Roosevelt's recent appeal to Hitler and Premier Mussolini to guarantee non-aggression for ten years.

(In Paris dispatches today, Hitler was reported as ready to accept papal intervention in the international crisis, and to view with

BULLETIN

VATICAN CITY, May 9 (INS)—Pope Pius today was authoritatively reported to have received "promise" from a number of European government heads they would make every effort to settle their quarrels through peaceful means.

Pending concrete proposals specifying ways and means of achieving amicable settlement of international difficulties from the political chiefs concerned, Pius pushed forward mediation efforts through papal nuncios in London, Paris, Berlin, Warsaw and Rome.

Friendly recall the proposal of Pope Pius for a conference of five great powers at the Vatican to discuss the Polish situation. Hitler, it was stated, is not averse to drawing closer to the Holy See as an aid to solution of Germany's own internal problems, while the proposed conference of England, France, Germany, Italy and Poland would give him an opportunity to resume friendly relations with Premier Neville Chamberlain and Daladier.

Weighty decisions affecting the immediate fate of Europe are anticipated as a result of the Hitler-Ribbentrop talks. Ribbentrop conveyed to the chancellor a full report on his conversation in Milan with Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

DEPENDS ON DUCE

Whether Hitler will agree to take part in the Pope's proposed peace conference, whose primary scope would be pacification of the Danzig and Polish Corridor issues, still is undecided.

It was pointed out that Italian-German policy hitherto had been to avoid sitting in on conferences where the British and the French endeavor to impose collective theories of security upon the exponents of totalitarianism.

Hitler would undoubtedly take part in the papal conference if Mussolini also is inclined to do so. Rome reports have hinted that if Duce is favorably disposed, but as

Gov. Saltonstall Declines Bid To Face Backus in Hearing

In an unusual move, Attorney Joseph A. Scolopetti, counsel for John H. Backus, "blue sky" division director, today "invited" Governor Saltonstall to appear before the Public Utilities Commission tomorrow and substantiate his removal charges against Backus.

But Governor Saltonstall will not appear, despite the "invitation." He said:

"I have no intention of going to the hearing. I have turned the matter over to the commissioners of the Department of Public Utilities and trust they will be able to cope with the situation."

"I shall answer Mr. Scolopetti in due time."

The public hearing in the Backus matter will open at 10 a. m. at the State House.

Last week, Governor Saltonstall demanded and was refused Backus' resignation. This was after the securities division director was alleged to have told a legislative committee the governor's plan for abolishing the division was dictated by personal motives and was fathered by Harcourt Embury, State street broker.

CANT CALL GOVERNOR

There was a mistaken report today at the State House that the governor might be summoned before the Public Utilities Commission.

It is legally impossible to summon the chief executive, however, while he is in office.

In his letter to the governor, Attorney Scolopetti said in part: "Fully appreciative of the legal barriers that prevent your being summoned before the Public Utilities Commission in the matter of John H. Backus, director of the securities division, I am

POLICE SHOT IN R. I. FELS RUNAWAY BOY

A schoolboy guilty of nothing more serious than having run away from his Salem home was fired upon twice by Rhode Island police last night and today, and was finally brought down by Policeman Norman Thatcher of Warwick when he fled as the policeman tried to question him.

The boy, 14-year-old Francis H. Blodgett, who lives with Mrs. Marcia Blodgett, his mother, at 87 Mason street, Salem, is in the Providence General Hospital, wounded in the right elbow.

At the hospital it is feared that his arm may be permanently crippled.

Francis, according to his mother, started off for school yesterday morning, but didn't go there. When he didn't return home at night, she was alarmed, but did not ask police to find him.

The youngster, in the meantime, had made his way to Cranston, R. I., where he had his first encounter with the law.

Policeman Roland Cornell encountered him there, sought to question him, and the boy ran away.

"Stop or I'll shoot!" cried the policeman, but the boy kept going. Cornell opened fire, but missed.

Cranston adjoints Warwick and Cornell's beat adjoints that of Thatcher. Whether he told the latter of his encounter with the run-away is not known, but this morning came the second episode in the potential tragedy.

BULLET HITS MARK

Francis was walking along Bold Hill road when Thatcher drove up in a cruise car.

"Get in," he said, "I want to talk to you," and again the boy fled, again came the words:

"Stop, or I'll shoot!" This time the bullet hit its mark. Sobbing, the youngster came out of the brush, holding his injured arm crying:

"You've hit me! I'm hurt! Don't shoot any more. I'll stop!"

He was taken then to the office of Dr. Henry Collier in Warwick, and later transferred to the Rhode Island General Hospital at Providence.

In notifying Salem police of the incident, Warwick police merely reported that the boy had been "located." There was no word of the shooting.

CITY LEGAL AIDE FALLS 4 STORIES

Plunging 45 feet in the hallway of his Back Bay home, Edward K. Nash, 37, assistant corporation counsel of the city of Boston, was critically injured today. He suffered a fractured left leg, severe cuts and bruises and internal injuries.

Police said Nash was seized with a sinking spell as he walked through a fourth-floor corridor of his residence in Bay State road.

He fell toward the railing to support himself, and for a second, with one hand, nearly saved himself from dropping.

But he was unable to hold on and plummeted straight down. He crashed on a first-floor landing.

Charles Jopp, a lodger in the house, heard the sounds of the fall and Nash's groans. He called City Hospital and the police.

Hospital officials reported Nash in serious condition, but said his chances for recovery appeared good.

Preparations were made for X-rays and examinations to determine the extent of his internal injuries.

Kidnapers Peril McLean Heiress; Guarded in N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 9.—Wealthy and socially prominent Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean—who once paid swindler Gaston B. Means $100,000 in a futile attempt to ransom the Lindbergh baby—was revealed here today as having kidnap worries of her own. Informed that threats had been made that Mrs. McLean's 17-year-old daughter, Evalyn Beal McLean, would be a "snatch" victim, New York authorities promptly put mother and daughter under heavy guard.

The kidnap threats were communicated to Mrs. McLean at her Washington home, police divulged.

EWALYN SHUNS GLAMOUR

Staying at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel here today on a visit, mother and daughter were closely attended by a detective detail.

Two officers in plain clothes accompanied them on shopping tours and social calls.

Seventeen-year-old Evalyn refused a $100,000 Newport debut last summer because she said she didn't want to be a "glamour girl."

So far, this year, Mrs. McLean hasn't opened her Newport summer home, "By the Sea," one of the show places of the swanky Rhode Island society resort.

Having inherited one of America's great fortunes from her prospector father who "struck it rich," Mrs. McLean has always been a free spender.

Her $50,000 dinner parties won her acclaim as a hostess in Washington, New York and Newport.

The $100,000 she "tossed away" in support of Means' nebulous project for solving the Lindbergh kidnaping was a characteristic gesture.

Means went to prison for his part in the swindle.

TRAGEDY STRIKES AGAIN TODAY IN BRAINTREE CIRCLE

Quits No. 8 Few Hours After Her Marriage

LOS ANGELES, May 9 (INS).—Just a few hours after Mrs. Billy Graves heard herself pronounced "wife" for the eighth time, her marriage to Billy C. Graves, 26-year-old musician, apparently was on the rocks today.

Graves strode angrily from the Hollywood home where he had taken his bride—Mrs. Nina DeMillo-Cantfield, Martin Luther Colton-Graves' fresh from an elopement. "I am getting an annulment," he informed the news-gazers.

"I'll get a divorce," said Mrs. Graves shortly thereafter. Both agreed the rift was caused by the bride's previous mate, Darrell L. Colton. He had phoned it, seemed, too many times since her elopement.

Kaspar Quads 3 Years Old

PASSAIC, N. J., May 9 (AP).—The Kaspar quads, Frances, Felix, Frank and Ferdinand—celebrated their third birthday today at a quiet family party, with none of the excitement that attended their appearance at St. Mary's Hospital on May 9, 1936.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Kaspar, parents of the quartet, said there would be ice cream and cake at the Kaspar home and that the only guests would be brother Ralph, 4, and sister Ellen, 6.

Lilian Adolfsen, 21, under treatment in Quincy Hospital for a wounded wrist, Morgan, 44, shot her in a fit of anger when an injured wrist he was having treated by a doctor she suggested failed to heal promptly, police said.

Despite her wound, it was Miss Adolfsen's cool thinking which saved Morgan's life, police reported, when he slashed his own wrists after shooting her. She directed the application of tourniquets to his injured arms until he could be rushed to the hospital.

The young nurse whom police charge Morgan shot is a close friend of one of the Arnold's two daughters. The retired postman had been in ill health, his family said.

ROBBERY CHARGE BRINGS BRIDE, 16, MATE INTO COURT

On a charge by Joseph Dermady of Broadway, Cambridge, a fisherman, that he was robbed of $190, a child bride of 16 and her 21-year-old husband appeared today in East Cambridge court.

Bruno Colesimo, the husband, pleaded not guilty to a charge of unarmed robbery and was released in $1000 bonds for a hearing May 20.

$190 IN MONEY BELT

The bride, fluff-haired, round-eyed Josephine O. Colesimo, who also was to have been arraigned with her husband until it was found she was 16 and not 18, was charged with delinquency and her case was continued for juvenile court on May 20. She made no plea.

She was turned over to the custody of relatives meanwhile. According to Police Inspector James Prior of Cambridge, the fisherman drew $204 from the bank, kept $14 loose in his pockets and placed $190 in a money belt around his waist.

At a hot-dog stand in Cambridge street, Cambridge, he met two girls, according to police, and after a taxicab ride with them arrived at an apartment in Massachusetts avenue.

FELL ASLEEP

Here he had several drinks, he said, fell asleep and woke up to find his $190 gone. He went to police.

The apartment, police said, is occupied by Colesimo and his bride. Now a search is being made for another girl, known as Grace and believed at present to be in New York.

Roosevelt Meets Leaders in Parley To End Coal War

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—Negotiators in the soft coal crisis walked silently into the White House today, to discuss with President Roosevelt the wage contract dispute which has left 45,000 miners idle.

Joint negotiating committees, invited here by President Roosevelt after he became increasingly concerned with the almost complete shutdown of the industry, decided to speculate beforehand on prospects of an agreement.

The administration was particularly worried over a possible serious shortage of coal for industry and transportation.

Sitting in on the conference was Secretary of Labor Perkins. She was accompanied by James F. Dewey, labor department consultant.

The negotiations for a new soft coal contract have been deadlocked for weeks over a union demand that the operators agree to recognize a union shop, or as an alternative, eliminate from the new contract strike penalty clauses which have been a part of the soft coal agreement for years.

The union shop sought by John L. Lewis, president of the Miners Union, differs slightly from what is generally called a closed shop, mine union leaders said.

They explained that under the UMW constitution the miners could not demand a closed shop in the strict sense of the term. A union shop permits mine workers to obtain a job in the mines before being required to join the union. Under a closed shop workers would he required to join the union before obtaining a job.

The PMW delegation included Lewis, Philip Murray, John Owens, Van A. Butner and David McDonald.

The operators were represented by Walter Robinson, chairman of the joint wage conference, John D. A. Murrow, Lee Gunther, Charles O'Neil and L. T. Putnam.

Ross Shrugs Aside Family's Disbelief He's Real Charley

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 9 (AP)—Gustave Blair, 69-year-old carpenter, shrugged aside today the disbelief of the Ross family in Philadelphia that he was the Charley Ross whose kidnaping at Germantown, Pa., in 1874 became one of the most celebrated abductions in American criminal history.

Blair, after years of effort, was identified legally yesterday by the Maricopa County Superior Court as the long-missing Charley Brewster Ross.

In Philadelphia Walter L. Ross, who was kidnaped with Charley, said: "The whole thing is ridiculous."

"This man's claims are entirely unfounded, and we intend to ignore the action of the Arizona court," he asserted.

Blair said the family's attitude would not deter him from pressing his efforts to gain their acceptance of his newly-established identity.

"If my older brother (Walter) lives for five years, he'll seek me out and admit our kinship," he declared.

Blair filed the civil action to establish his identity. He named as defendants Walter, Sophie, Marjorie and Anne, other children of Christian and Sarah Ann Ross. They did not answer the complaint and Superior Judge G. A. Rogers entered a default judgment.

Charley and Walter Ross were kidnaped July 5, 1874, by two men.

Walter, two years older, was found a short time later in the northeastern section of Philadelphia. Three days later the Ross family received the first of 23 ransom letters, demanding $20,000. Negotiations to obtain the child's return were futile.

The lad was never again heard from.

Blair said in court yesterday that he had determined he was the Ross child by family traits, likeness, and by the fact that Lincoln C. Miller of Phoenix, whose family, he said, Blair had been told by him (Miller) rather than Blair was the kidnaped child.

Miller corroborated the latter statement and added that he used to take care of the boy.

Builds Robot Mind

CHICAGO, May 9 (AP)—A fugitive Jewish woman physician from Vienna demonstrated today for the first time in America an electrical model of the human brain.

By operating switches to control several hundred different electric circuits it is possible to duplicate the nerve impulses received and sent out by the brain,

Dr. Edith Klempner, the inventor, showed doctors here.

Neon tubes running through the huge model are controlled by the switches to duplicate flashes of thought, breathing and the complex reactions of disordered minds in various forms of mental disease when the "telephone switchboard" of the brain develops short circuits.

OPEN K. C. CONCLAVE IN SALEM

SALEM, May 9.—Salem high mass, a parade through the streets of Salem, and a business session today opened the gathering of 450 delegates representing more than 40,000 members of the Knights of Columbus in Massachusetts.

The convention is the second of the two-day state gatherings inaugurated by the organization.

Mass was celebrated at the church of the Immaculate Conception by Magr. Francis Phean, of Boston, state chaplain of the K. of C.

The Rev. Hugh Blunt, of Cambridge, delivered the sermon, in which he referred to the high aims and ideals of the organization. Led by the drum corps of the New Veragus Council of Salem, the delegates marched to Now and Then hall, convention headquarters, where they were met by Mayor Edward A. Coffey.

The business meeting followed, with Edward Cullen, head of the state council, welcoming the conventioners.

An election of officers and a luncheon at the Hotel Hawthorne were scheduled for later in the day.

Tinker, who eloped with the girl in Kentucky in 1937 over parental protests, died of the bullet wound Sunday night. Patrolman Edward Cavanaugh quelled Blanche as saying she fired when her husband "dared" her to, but that she thought a safety catch would prevent the pistol from discharging.

Cavanaugh said the shooting followed a "home brew beer" party.

'Scraggy Legs' Commons Row Ires Lady Astor

LONDON, May 9 (AP)—A suggestion that British women buy long America dresses because they want "to cover their scraggy legs" and protection of British trade "against this competition," figured briefly today in House of Commons debate.

Conservative Harold Suttcliffe said imports of dresses from the United States rose from 237,000 in 1937 to 455,000 in 1938.

Then Laborite William Thorne asked:

"Is it not a fact that one of the reasons for imports from America of ladies' dresses is that women are concerned to cover their scraggy legs?"

"That is not true," Lady Astor shouted angrily.

Stanley ended the exchange—in which nothing was decided—by saying:

"I would not attempt to speak with the same authority as Mr. Thorne on the perfection or imperfection of the female form, but surely it would not be beyond the ability of our manufacturers to make longer dresses which could equally well cover skimpy legs."

Oil Price War Costs Two $2400

Aftermath of a price-cutting war in Everett, two members of the Retail Fuel Oil Dealers' Association of that city were given suspended sentences of two and a half years each by Judge Wilford T. Gray in Middlesex criminal court today.

In addition, the judge ordered them to pay for a burned oil truck and garage.

The two, Wilfred D. Sarty, 40, of Prospect street, and Mario De Carlin, of Everett street, pleaded guilty to having set fire to a truck and garage owned by Dominick and Anthony Puliafico at the Pullificio station, Clinton street.

The amount the defendants must pay for the burned property totals $2400. The sentences were suspended for three years.

Nye Pushes Expose Of British Scheming

WASHINGTON, May 8—Senator Gerald P. Nye, North Dakota Republican, is not through with his expose of British propaganda work in this country.

After disclosing the existence of a handbook for English propaganda experts, whose task it is to obtain the help of America and other countries in the event of another world war, Nye declared:

"I think we would probably find something very interesting if we could have access to the lists of foreign educators and lecturers who have been spreading themselves out over America during the last couple of months."

"I hope to be prepared with such a list at an early date."

How these "educators and lecturers" function in this country was indicated in a chapter from Sidney Rogerson's "Propaganda in the Next War," an English book Senator Nye put "the chapter in question in the Congressional Record, where it reads in part:

ON FIRM GROUND

"Fortunately with America our propaganda is on firm ground. We can be entirely sincere as our main plank will be the old democratic one. We must clearly enunciate our belief in the democratic form of government, and our firm resolve to adhere to it."

"Our minor propaganda will aim at attaching the support of important sections, such as the Jews, probably by the declaration of a clear-cut policy on Palestine and of our intention if victorious to put an end to anti-Semitic persecution, and of the Roman Catholic community in similar terms. These should not be difficult to pursue, nor to put over to the American public."

"We shall as before send over our leading literary lights and other men with names well known in the United States to put our point of view over the dinner table. Our trouble will be to find men with equally commanding reputations to step into the shoes of such as Kipling, Barrie, Shaw, Galsworthy, and Wells."

"Conversely, we should exploit to the full the views and experiences of American nationals who might be serving in our forces or those of our allies."

TRAIN KILLS MAN IN EVERETT

A Boston and Maine express train, en route from Portsmouth, N. H., to Boston, struck and killed an unidentified man today at the Second street crossing, Everett, near the Chelsea line.

Witnesses said the victim apparently failed to see the train and stepped in front of it.

He appeared to be about 45 years old and was dressed in working clothes. Police believe he was employed in the neighborhood.

The train was in charge of Engineer Herbert Lord and Conductor George A. Abbott. A delay of about ten minutes followed the accident.

AFL Pickets N. Y. Fair Gates

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP).—All 11 gates of the New York World's Fair were picketed today by members of the International Hall Carriers, Building and Common Laborers Union of America (AFL) in a move to unionize all employees of the fair. Union officials said 200 of the 50,000 employees did not report for work today, but fair officials said the exposition was "doing business as usual."

Hammers Bullet, May Lose Finger

It's a good idea not to hit a revolver cartridge with a hammer, Stanley Guizara, 25, found that out today in the backyard of his home, Hitchcock street, Brighton. He did it. He was taken to City Hospital, where the bullet was removed from his left hand. Doctors said he might lose a finger.

'Girl Circus Left' Almost Well Again

Surgical and medical care unsurpassable anywhere in the United States. And her own indomitable courage!

These were two factors contributing today to the probable recovery of golden-haired Fritz Barton, the girl the circus left behind.

She fell 40 feet from a flying trapeze while the big Ringling-Barnum and Bailey show was in Boston Garden.

ALSO STAR PATIENT

When they first took pretty Fritz's broken body to Massachusetts General hospital, best anybody—including her husband and partner—dared hope was that her life be saved.

That she might ever be able to resume her career as a "Big Top" aerialist seemed utterly impossible. But today things were looking definitely brighter.

Massachusetts General Hospital nurses and doctors said Fritz was their "star patient."

HEARS TRAPEZE CALLING

They had her left leg, the thigh of which was fractured, in a harness.

Tight bandages held her broken ribs in place. Still under close observation today was her chest, where internal injury was feared.

But—Fritz had a big, flashing smile for the Boston Evening American cameraman. He asked her how she felt.

"Better every day," she said. "Only I'm impatient to get well and get back to the show."

"She really suffers a lot of pain," the doctor said. "But she's a model patient. She just won't be locked. That's half the battle."

COURAGE HER ALLY

A big bunch of roses was on the table by Fritz Barton's bed. Orders of John Ringling, the circus head, were that the girl the Big Show left behind should lack for nothing that money could buy.

But something money couldn't buy—courage—was her ally today. It was her ally against the ghastly spectres which haunt so many besides. Fear of death! Fear of infirmity! Fear of the future.

Grim and menacing shadows, every one of them. But they couldn't scare golden-haired Fritz Barton, the girl the circus left behind.

She had a double weapon against them. That flashing smile of hers. And the dauntless heart that inspired it.

Harvard Law Student Wins Own Tag Case

A Harvard Law School student tried and won his own case today.

He is Robert S. Dougherty, Jr., 24, and he was in Judge Arthur P. Stone's court in Cambridge to try and explain away a ticket for parking at a bus stop.

In the face of police testimony that the number of a car parked at the bus stop had turned out to be Dougherty's, the law student offered witnesses who declared he had been in the law school all day on the day in question. Dougherty said his car had, so far as he knew, been parked on Law School property during the entire day.

Judge Stone found him not guilty.

Canton Man's Body Found on Railroad

No one, probably, will ever know exactly how Ambrose McAfee, 51, of 155 Lawrence avenue, Canton, came to his death on the New Haven Railroad tracks at Canton.

His body was found badly mangled on the tracks at 6 a. m. today by Samuel Maledinsson, a watchman at the Furman & Co. factory. The last train passed that point at 12:15 a. m. Medical Examiner J. P. Golden declared death accidental.

N. H. Death Trial

PLYMOUTH, N. H., May 8—Henry Glendon Begin, 40, beauty shop proprietor, was taken into Superior Court today for speedy trial on the charge he murdered Mrs. Freda Edson, 28-year-old divorcee, his sweetheart.

His appearance, after a series of delays, was ordered by Judge Oscar Young of Laconia, who announced he would set the date for trial during the present term of which began today.

Begin was indicted on a charge of first degree murder on January 11, four days after the unclad body of the attractive divorcee was found in the rear room of his beauty parlor in Lebanon.

She had been twice shot through the head.

TOBIN URGES TAX TO SUPPORT WPA

Let the federal government assume the entire burden of relief through the Works Progress Administration.

ROBERT BURGUNDER
Held in Murders

Father Fights For Son Held In 2 Murders

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 9 (INS)—A father-son courtroom drama was in the offing today as his attorney father mapped a defense for Robert M. Burgunder, Jr., 22, collegian accused of murdering two men.

Apparently thrilled by the prospect of a spirited defense before, as he believes, he will be hanged, the young and unflinching Burgunder declared:

"Sure I'll hang, but don't think I won't fight the case."

His grief-stricken father, Robert M. Burgunder, Sr., a brilliant former prosecutor at Seattle, Wash., said quietly:

"He is my son. I will do anything I can for him."

Tall, handsome and self-assured, young Burgunder was arrested yesterday as he walked from church services at Johnson City, Tenn. He was accused of the murders of Jack Peterson, 35, and Ellis Kourney, 24, Phoenix automobile salesmen, shot to death April 29 while demonstrating a new car.

Burgunder has denied the murders but admitted he stole the demonstration car, in which he drove across six states to Johnson City. At one point in his questioning, he refused a statement with the comment:

"One wrong word might hang me now."

The college murderer last night was taken to Knoxville. His father, at Seattle, prepared to leave for Phoenix to aid the defense despite a telegram from his son, which said:

"Stay out of this. I know what I'm doing, and will take the consequences. Stay in Seattle. (Signed) 'BOB'."

Let "made work"—public projects of all sorts, roads, dams, reforestation, construction of all sorts of public buildings, creation and upkeep of parks and recreation centers—take care of unemployment. Let it all be paid for by a special, federal tax so that every citizen throughout the land will know just what is being done and how much it costs.

Don't, by any means whatever, add to the relief burdens of the nations cities, towns and villages.

PLAN WINS PRAISE

Don't curtail activities of the Works Progress Administration now, or in the future.

Don't expect private industry to take in all of the nation's unemployed now or ever.

Such, in essence were the proposals and warnings given by Mayor Maurice J. Tobin before the WPA investigation in Washington yesterday which, today, reverberated throughout the country as the first logical, workable proposal submitted to the nation as a major solution of its more pressing problem—public relief and its administration.

Mayor Tobin, complimented by legislators and the press, was reported to be in seclusion, working out his plan in even greater detail.

The mayor pointed out at the Washington hearing, a session of the House appropriations committee, that the federal government is already exacting special taxes in great variety although, in many instances, the tax is not apparent.

FAVORS SPECIAL TAX

Such a tax, he said, is the six-cent-a-package tax on cigarettes, which everyone pays, yet no one considers as a tax.

He added that the federal payroll tax—paid by workers and employers alike—for the benefit of old age security is already creating so huge a reserve fund as to be potentially embarrassing to the government.

A special federal tax for relief, he stated, could be collected in some such manner—as the cigarette tax is collected, perhaps, or like the payroll tax—and could then be turned back to cities, towns, villages and townships to be expended by them, under federal supervision, on any works project which might suggest itself or be needed.

Referring to his proposal as a "Wake Up America" tax, Tobin pointed out that it is high time the average man-in-the-street learns exactly, and especially just what relief is costing him now, and is likely to cost him in the future.

A city, such as Boston, must, he said, have relief, itself, or face a tax rate so ruinous as to threaten its very existence.

REPULSE QUITS KING 'FLEET'

ABOARD EMPRESS OF AUSTRALIA, May 9 (Canadian Press).—The battle cruiser Repulse turned back toward England in a solemn ceremony today, leaving the naval convoy of the liner Empress of Australia, which is carrying King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on a state visit to Canada and the United States.

In a heavy sea whipped up by a half-gale blowing out of the south, the mighty warship drew up alongside the liner. Her band played "God Save the King," and a thousand sailors lining her deck cheered as the king returned her salute.

Originally the Repulse was to have carried the King and Queen to Quebec, but because of the European situation, plans were changed and the Empress of Australia was used instead, permitting the battle cruiser to remain in home waters.

With the Repulse returning to her station, the convoy was reduced to two cruisers, the Southampton and the Glasgow.

The southeast by south wind beat on the liner's port side giving her considerable roll under an overcast sky 750 miles west of the Irish coast.

The king and queen braved the rough weather, however, for walks on deck. Yesterday the king played deck tennis.

Hunt Ring Victims In 5 More Graves

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (AP).—Orders for the opening of five more graves were written today as investigators of an insurance-murder ring studied the possibility that ring leaders may have blackmailed women into becoming "professional" widows after they poisoned their husbands.

While District Attorney Charles F. Kelley directed one phase of the investigation to cemeteries, detectives expressed belief the blackmail scheme may have resulted in the leaders maintaining what corresponded to a matrimonial agency, involving an unknown number of women.

One investigator said the ring, accused of killing more than 100 persons, presented a list of "prospects" to at least one woman soon after her husband was poisoned. She apparently was ordered, he said, to contact the prospects under threat of having her complicity in her husband's death disclosed.

This plan may have produced an "endless chain" of poison murders, the investigator declared, adding:

"This entire ring is even more fantastic than we had supposed. We haven't any idea how many men have died through this phase of the plot. Neither do we know how many women were involved."

Eleven widows are among 22 persons held in the case. One still sought is Mrs. Rose Carina, known to police as a "professional" widow and the ring's "kiss of death" member. Detectives said she'd had four husbands, all of whom died

Nobody Home

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for a fourth floor bridge, or company to the movies—don't call up that friend who bought a Nash.

His house is dark. The door is locked. Something has happened to him!

He's been shanghaied—by a car that refuses to stay in a garage.

And that's the way it happens. So quickly that often you don't have time to grab your coat.

There's your new Nash—long and rakish, gay and glittering, so restless it can hardly stay at the curb!

Next thing you know, you're out of town with your heart singing with excitement.

There's a new kind of engine up in front that acts like a thoroughbred stinging under a spur. There's a wheel in your hands, and gears* beneath your fingers, that are almost as quick as thought. And before you catch your breath, a Fourth Speed* cuts in : : : and the fun begins all over again.

For, suddenly, you haven't an engine. You don't hear it or catch the slightest tremor in the floorboard. But the telephone poles begin ticking by, in a new and furious tempo.

Then begins that phantom-flight that ever afterwards makes any other car seem tame.

For hills and valleys flash by like scenes in a beautiful dream. The bumps are gone. The ruts are smoothed away.

There isn't even any dust or draft to spoil your experience. A magical little "Weather Eye" that filters the air automatically takes care of that—makes coat and gloves unnecessary in a Nash the year 'round.

And if wanderlust gets the better of you—if you can't get that proud hood headed home—well, just park beneath a star and go to bed.

For it's that simple with a Nash. With its convertible bed, you can live in it—anywhere—for weeks on end.

Too bad you're missing all the fun that Nash owners have : : :

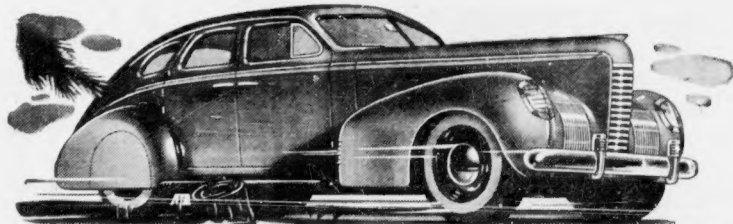

If it's money that's holding you back—forget it! For here's the simple, certified truth: Nash has ten beautiful models priced next to the lowest : : : models that hold the Gilmore-Yosemite economy record in their class, with 21.25 miles to the gallon.

And, as everybody knows, you can't make a Nash quit!

So—what's holding you back? Come down and try it!

It's that new NASH

REORGANIZATION OUTLINED BY F. D.

BY HENRY M. HARRIS
Special to the Evening American

President Franklin D. Roosevelt today outlined a plan for the reorganization of the Federal Government, which he said would be completed by the end of the year.

Governor Won't Face Backus

proposed to leave, and also to urge speed in his own case as well as in others, since then that would precede before the commission was set up, is absolutely essential.

It is gratifying to note that the largest number of suggestions of incompetency or dishonesty, this of course, unfortunate that some statements made by Mr. Backus in the public interest and solely designed to aid the public welfare should have been so distorted. It is suggested that the commission should be a permanent institution.

DIDN'T IMPRESS MOTIVES

"You have my assurance that a full discussion of the evidence will convince you that the director is a sound and intelligent man, and that the motives which prompted your sponsorship of House Bill No. 241, Pages 7-8, recommending the abolition of the securities division."

In any event the honest-made come from you and therefore, as a favor and public official, you will be better understood the absolute right and the tremendous importance of being fairly and honestly treated.

High-Salaried City Officials 'On Spot'

High salaries of city officials are being questioned by the public, and it is suggested that the city should be more economical in its expenditures.

PAINS-COLDS

FUNCTIONS TO PRESIDENT

- 12—Transfer of Inland Waterways Corporation, War Department, to Commerce Department.
- 13—Transfer to new federal security agency, proposed in reorganization plan No. 1, for administration in office of education, labor and radio functions of national emergency council.
- 14—Abolition of national emergency council and transfer of all functions, except film and radio activities, to the President.

THIS PEACE PRAYER

"Somehow I feel that my words tonight will find a sincere echo in the hearts of all who hear them. It is not for me to put forward concrete proposals, that must be left to those who have the power to guide their nations toward a new understanding. God grant that they may accomplish their great task before it is too late."

LONDON, May 9 (AP)—British newspapers published accounts today of the Duke of Windsor's peace appeal, but a most widespread reaction, according to editorial comment,

Three London newspapers front-page the speech, two with headlines. The News Chronicle, the Express, The Daily Telegraph and the Times printed telegrams of a congratulatory message from the Queen Mother Mary II.

"And they lived happily ever after"—is the way this story should begin. John, Wesley, Leary, of Brighton, and Patricia O'Brien, of Newtown, are approaching their first birthday and will celebrate it next month, hale and hearty, in their respective homes.

And a Boston City Hospital nurse, disciplined because of John and Patricia, has been allowed to resume her career at the institution.

But what have Pat and Johnny got to do with the dismissal of a City Hospital nurse, you ask?

Oh, just 28 just, Miss Ruth, and only 1 day from part birth. But she's got the Easter story.

Pat and John, Miss Mary, are just 28 just, for John and Patricia were born just 28 just. But she's got the Easter story.

THE ADDRESS of the Secretary of State Runbridge Colby in a neutrality before the United States Senate Committee on Foreign Relations is a veritable textbook for all Americans of today.

It is the product of the matured judgment of a statesman, a diplomat and a man who knows AT FIRST HAND the damage the last war wrought in our country.

Mr. Colby, in the service he has rendered to his country from the files of our State papers the following masterly definition of what constitutes our proper position in a war, of Secretary of State John Hay, on March 10, 1904, on the occasion of the breaking out of the war between Japan and Russia:

"All officials, civil, military and naval are hereby directed not only to observe the President's proclamation of neutrality in the pending war between Russia and Japan, but also to abstain from either action or speech which can legitimately cause irritation to either of the combatants.

"It is always unfortunate to bring Old World antipathies or jealousies into our life, or by speech or conduct to excite anger and resentment toward our nation in friendly foreign lands; BUT IN A GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEE, whose official position makes him in some sense the representative of the people, THE MISCHIEF OF SUCH ACTIONS IS GREATLY INCREASED."

CONTRAST THIS SOUND, traditional American position of the Secretary of State of Theodore Roosevelt with the position of the Secretary of State of Franklin D. Roosevelt and the President himself in the present European crisis.

I contrast the traditional AMERICAN NEUTRALITY and a BOGUS NEUTRALITY, between a soothing attitude and a belittling attitude. The Administration clung to the latter.

Mr. Colby, in the service he has rendered to his country from the files of our State papers the following masterly definition of what constitutes our proper position in a war, of Secretary of State John Hay, on March 10, 1904, on the occasion of the breaking out of the war between Japan and Russia:

"All officials, civil, military and naval are hereby directed not only to observe the President's proclamation of neutrality in the pending war between Russia and Japan, but also to abstain from either action or speech which can legitimately cause irritation to either of the combatants.

"It is always unfortunate to bring Old World antipathies or jealousies into our life, or by speech or conduct to excite anger and resentment toward our nation in friendly foreign lands; BUT IN A GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEE, whose official position makes him in some sense the representative of the people, THE MISCHIEF OF SUCH ACTIONS IS GREATLY INCREASED."

These pretenses are not Americans at all. They are aliens indulging in their alien hatreds and conflicts and trying to impose these bitter alien antagonisms on our peaceful people.

The mask of Americanism should be torn from the faces of such masqueraders, and they should stand revealed for what they actually are—alien agitators.

MR. COLBY SPEAKS of "the fashion which became prevalent after the great war to encourage grandiose schemes for the creation and preservation of peace."

It is the fashion which became prevalent after the great war to encourage grandiose schemes for the creation and preservation of peace."

"The unchecked discretion of a single man is not a sufficient guarantee of the nation's peace amid the pitfalls of discretionary tariffs, embargoes, restrictions, options and permissions, such as are contained in some of the measures proposed."

This is particularly true of the Thomas Amendment to the Neutrality Act, which allows the President to name an aggressor nation, even though we have no personal grievance against that nation.

OUR SALVATION at present is the "Will to Keep Out of War."

As Mr. Colby says in his contained and reasoned speech, only "the will to keep out of Europe and its perpetual blood-shambles."

1—ABSOLUTE NEUTRALITY as outlined by John Hay.

2—The war-making power must NEVER slip from the hands of Congress.

3—THE WILL OF THE PEOPLE must always be ascertained even by Congress, before we ever embark on a foreign war.

The destiny of the American people shall NEVER pass into French, English or Russian hands.

It MUST remain in the hands and hearts of our own people, who have repeatedly said:

ISOLATION YES, DEFENSE YES, BUT NO PARTICIPATION IN FOREIGN WARS.

Human Side of News -1-

IN THE CURRENT Broadway farce "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" (May 1, 1939), the Southern girl takes the play away from the Brooklyn-bred movie star and the New York girl. The former play is a somewhat raffish sideswipe at the momentous national issue involved in the casting of the role of Scarlett. But neither in reality nor in make-believe does a Northern girl score. The awards go to the morning-few of the Spenser Hawthorne hedges and the camellias and cape jasmine of the old South.

THAT may be fair enough, but what is perhaps more important, the Southern girls are snapping up the good jobs around New York City, particularly those in which the girl is in contact with the public.

One big store has a Southern girl for a trouble-shooter. Here is the exotic charm of a fresh garden. Anybody with fire in his eye, ready to tear the place to pieces, begins to pipe down when she flutters her eyelashes.

It is not only in meeting men that the Southern girls succeed. Many of the swank courtiers around town are discovering that they can dispel the cold giant in the eye of a determined shopper, and turns on the anodyne of timid speech. It's quite all right when the receptionist tells you you might have to wait an hour or two—Southerners are good at waiting and they make us like it, too.

BECAUSE he didn't think that scattered dramatic groups catch the spirit of a play, the author's are an excellent young playwright's first theatrical foray.

That was three years ago. Now T. T. and P. P. are a pair of young actors are an interesting part of the Boston scene. They produce the works of John Beyer, Jr., their friend and mentor and play by other young writers.

"We The Poor" latest of Mr. Beyer's pen pieces, will be presented on May 25 in the Y. M. C. A. In the cast will be a jewelry salesman, an operatic student, housewife, clerk and a former vaudeville star.

They are deep in rehearsal, and having the time of their lives.

WHEN THE NEW CROP of deba launch their official presentation parties, they will, no doubt, go dressed formally, but right now they're enjoying a final fling at casual sports costumes.

and make her think that this or that gown makes her look like the Queen of Sheba.

Pretty nearly everybody in New York came from somewhere else. But in the metropolis everything is so de-personalized. Most of us don't know the name of the family in the next-door apartment. We are hungry, many of us, for the easy-going, friendly personal contacts of the smaller town and village.

THAT old culper next to us in the subway looks like Uncle Billy T. (think who in the lively stable back home. We'd like to talk to him, but there's that barrier of 'use and wont' which divides us in the big town.

I once saw one of those Southern girls turn to a stuffy old gentleman on a Fifth avenue bus and address him about as follows:

"You will pardon me, but might you be kin to Colonel Carlington down in Natchez—you look mighty like him, sah."

I didn't quite get it as to whether the old gentleman was kin to the Colonel, but he got untracked right away and he and the obviously nice Southern girl babbled happily to the end of the line, after it had been established that he knew the thetts of Charleston.

Political Parade -1- by GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

WASHINGTON, May 9 An informal poll of a very typical cross-section of Democratic members of the House of Representatives, by this writer, reveals a deep conviction on the part of these assumed politicians that Mr. Roosevelt could not be re-elected President in the event of his re-nomination for a third term by the 1940 Democratic National Convention.

MANY members of the President's party in the House who have voted for every Socialist innovation sought to be rubber-stamped, were as emphatic as any in declaring their belief that the American people are unalterably opposed to breaking the two-term tradition established by George Washington, especially at such a time as the present, when the rise of dictatorships in Europe and elsewhere has caused fears that ancient American traditions are threatened, and that the dictates of prudence and safety require that the people of the United States hold fast to their historic moorings.

To a less extent the feeling also prevails among Senate Democrats that Mr. Roosevelt could not be elected for a third term.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT
Could He Be Re-Elected?

The interviews also disclosed that there is remarkably little apprehension on the part of House Democrats that Mr. Roosevelt will seek a third term, notwithstanding the frank admission that if he should do so it would split the party wide open.

But this feeling of safety with respect of the third term issue should mislead nobody. Our Democratic statemen for six years have gone headlong into Socialism under Mr. Roosevelt's leadership, largely because they were so naive and unsophisticated as not to realize that the clever President was leading them, a step at a time, into a succession of innovations, the grand total of which summed up into radical alterations in the very fabric of the system of government.

Once ensnared in the crystal maze of these innovations, it was only the President himself and the inner circle know their way about, there can be no withdrawal by the Democrats in Congress who have made these things possible.

THE ONLY HOPE lies in a change in administration, and most of all, in an alteration in the psychology and philosophy of the country.

Mr. Roosevelt is the only man in the country who could be elected on a platform pledged to carrying the New Deal to its logical conclusions.

Any change of administration, whether to conservative Democrat or to Republican regime, would bring the New Deal to a stop, and it would instantly begin to fall apart.

If Mr. Roosevelt himself believes this, or comes to believe it, he may become a candidate to succeed himself.

WHY GRACIE ALLEN SPOKE LYRICS

By Leonard Lyons

4. Species All ...

NEW YORK, May 9 The sponsors of the Burns and Allen program last night complimented Gracie for her new arrangement of "An Snug as a Bug in a Rug." Gracie didn't tell him that the "arrangement" in which she merely spoke the lyrics instead of singing them—was necessary because May Noble's band made a mistake and played a different song . . . Gypsy Rose Lee also appears in an ad, showing her almost nude, appealing for "Clothing Old or New." It's for the Spanish Refugee Relief Campaign . . . ORSON WELLES' program will conclude on June 2 despite the fact Orson Welles, Welles, who rejected Hollywood offers, found that the films might be made by other studios.

HOLLYWOOD, May 8. (U.P.)—The old movie grapevine reveals that when the late Anthony McGee's life of film began, one of the loveliest women was ever seen. McGee, then in the old Herald office when he was acting as a reporter, was doing a movie review. She was the girl who was old and still a beauty, who was a famous company. She had come to work in the office of the great Alec Moore, one time actor, and she was well known to everyone with her beauty.

You Can't Lose: Take a Chance!

By Elsie Robinson

DON'T THINKED these recklessly generous, selfless sincere experiences, those noble rebellions that have landed you in so many messes, resulted in such waste and humiliation. It is EXACTLY that you have come to look for.

Yes, I know. You've lost a lot of money. People have treated you taken advantage of you. And everyone says you are a fool to "do such impulsive things."

But that doesn't prove that you ARE a fool. These impulsive acts may have cost you plenty. But they also BOUGHT you plenty!

That very daring which resulted in so many bad breaks also won for you your biggest opportunities. And generosity which ended in so much heartache also opened your heart to priceless understanding and sympathy. You have seen some of the happiest hours of your life. You must see others, too.

If you risk you land in monetary trouble. But you also have a no-odds-on tip now and then. And for the sake of one no-odds-on tip you should be willing to risk a million dollars.

THE "SAFE AND SOUND" policy of life sounds very civilized and intelligent. Actually, it is neither. It was never intended to be safe and sound.

Power and wisdom are the fruits of danger rather than of safety; of adventure rather than of routine; of restlessness, rebellion, hardship and discomfort, rather than of resignation and comfort.

The great lives have always been secret lives—dangerous lives—gambling lives. The box and horse records have always been made by the gaming spirits who were willing to endure tort for pain and loss for the sake of their dreams.

There is an 'edge' in the natural world with every simpler, sooner or later, discovery to be true. It is 'Yod'
 CAN'T WIN'

There's another fact in the world of politics and knowing sports which is equally true and equally obvious: "YOU CAN'T LOSE."

You can't lose in life if you look for money big characters.

RECKLESS FAITH in a cause and great-hearted generosity, gathering the best of his kind and gallant sacrifices these are the only things that

They will cost you bitter tears and sorrow and regret, cruel disillusionment, pain of heart. They may land you in perilous seas. BUT YOU'LL ALWAYS BE THE WINNER IN THE LONG RUN.

League Not 'Gay Sorority'

REPORTS at the annual meeting this morning give a pretty good insight into how society gets spend their time when not dressed up in party frocks. . . . Many people have the idea that the League is just a day's money for the promotion of parties and dances, but actually the purpose of the League is far from frivolous . . .

For instance, 137 members have been giving their time to volunteer work in various Eastern hospitals during the past winter... Members of the Glee Club gave the students for the entertainment of students at hospitals and institutions, and the newly organized orchestra gave three concerts. The Garden Club have been supervising class flower arrangements for their children and also house and the first members of the League were attending to the school's physical settlement.

Each of the members of this morning has had experience in the various profitable activities of League ... It is very interesting to note League ... there are 125 members and over this can be established ... and direct the society girls who have a desire to work for the society and want to be a part of the ...

The acquiescence by Secretary Hull in limited barter agreements constitutes a tacit admission that conditions in Europe and elsewhere are not conducive to the internationalism on which the United States relied in its series of a score of so-called reciprocal trade agreements.

In the circumstances, it is not surprising that a demand has been made in Congress for a fresh audit of the tangible results of the barter agreements in American industry and agriculture.

Representative Treadway, Republican, has introduced a resolution that there should be a study of the effects of the barter trade agreements in American industry and agriculture.

The resolution under the rules of the House, has been referred to the committee on rules, in which the committee has a long history of studying the effects of the barter trade agreements in American industry and agriculture.

NEW YORK, May 9 (AP)—

F.D. MESSAGE DUE ON RAIL PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, May 9 (AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt is expected to send a message to Congress today recommending a joint railroad program.

Associates reported today that Chairman Wheeler of the Interstate Commerce Commission would work out on the basis of suggestions from railroad managers and labor and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Wheeler has proposed a revision of the Interstate Commerce Act, which would include placing water carriers under ICC regulation.

Mr. Roosevelt was said to be expected to make known his approval of the legislation if Wheeler asks him to do so.

Senator Barkley (D) Kentucky, the majority leader, announced that railroad measures were definitely on the program for the new session.

Wheeler said he would send the Senate floor the bill to amend the act to rectify the immediate emergency act.

Usually well informed legislative sources reported that the Senate Commerce Committee had approved a bill to amend the act to rectify the immediate emergency act.

Under this proposal the bill could order carriers to pay additional revenues resulting from rate increases. It then could distribute the fund among the roads, with authority.

Moakley Predicts : Declares Fenske 4-Minute Mile

JACK MOAKLEY, famous Cornell track coach, says that within two years there will be a four-minute mile, and that Chuck Fenske of Wisconsin will be the young man to establish this mark. A year ago there were many persons who believed that Glenn Cunningham would be the one to set up a record of four minutes for a mile, but it is agreed that the Kansas Flyer will never reach this objective.

Fenske has shown improved form during the past year, and in the opinion of Moakley will be ready for his big test in two years.

When Fenske finally makes his bid for a four-minute mile the race will be held in June when there is less likelihood of there being any wind. It will also be attempted in a race with a restricted number of starters. Fenske might have too much interference to establish a low mark if he were obliged to compete against a large field.

It was in Boston that Moakley got his start in track athletics. For 40 years Jack has been developing great athletes at Cornell, and says he will continue to do so for several more years. He is a college track sports what Connie Mack is to baseball.

Cornell Pays Tribute to Coach

CORNELL, N.Y., published a book entitled "John F. Moakley, 40 Years at Cornell." It is a fitting tribute to the veteran coach. The material was prepared by Bob Kane. I quote from his introductory chapter:

"To most of us, Jack Moakley is father, wet nurse, and preceptor of Cornell track athletics. The reason is clear when we realize this is Jack's fortieth year at Cornell. Known and loved by every Cornellian, to them Cornell track and Jack Moakley are synonymous.

"There was, however, an interesting, if somewhat nebulous chapter of track history prior to Jack's arrival in the Fall of 1899. Not unlike other attempts of organized athletics at Cornell, track had a rough time of it.

"Cricket, baseball, rowing and football were the earliest attempts at organized recreation for Ezra Cornell's tyros. Like many another human adventure, it took the right man in each case to achieve satisfactory results. Thus, it was not until Jack Moakley decided to forsake his native Boston for bucolic Ithaca did Cornell boast of any success on the cinder path."

Declared Football Not a Game of Skill

THE RECORDS of Cornell reveal some interesting material as to the low standing of football as a college sport in 1878. President White of Cornell refused to allow the football team to go to Cleveland to play a game.

"I refuse to allow 40 men to travel 400 miles," declared President White, "merely to agitate a bag of wind."

I do not believe Dick Harlow of Harvard and other leading coaches will agree with the late President White's idea of football. The former Cornell head continued:

"Football is not a game of skill. When one compares it with any other athletic sport, it at once becomes evident that football must take a low rank among the scientific games. A man in two weeks may, by daily practice become an expert football player, provided he has endurance and is a swift runner while on the other hand a man must practice for two years to deserve the name of a good baseballist. To establish football turnouts between distant colleges is an unwise plan."

These statements may have been true of oldtime football, but I believe any modern coach will tell you that it takes two or three years to develop a top college football player who has been previously trained in a high or prep school.

Perry Haughton went to Cornell at the same time as did Moakley, and helped develop its football power.

It is pleasant to know that Moakley, a former Boston man, has had such an important part in Cornell's success, and that after 40 years of coaching is looking forward to a college youngster running a mile in four minutes.

Nurmi Was Almost a Perfect Runner

PAAYO NURMI, the Finnish distance runner, was the nearest approach to the perfect mile I have ever seen in action. Nurmi toured the United States under the direction of Hugo Quist who later helped pilot Sonja Henie to stardom.

Nurmi tried to break the mile record in the Har. Jrd Stadium but was prevented from doing so by a high wind.

Track and field marks are the best arguments to use when one contends that the athletes of today are better than the oldtimers. In all events that are measured by the time clock or the yardstick the present day stars have it on the oldtimers.

I believe the same condition holds true in boxing, baseball, hockey and in other sports, but due to the methods of making ratings it is impossible to prove the superiority of the new stars as clearly as it is in track and field events.

Fans Six in One Inning?

FREMONT, Neb., May 8 (AP)—Harvey Jensen, pitcher for a Fremont American Legion Junior League baseball team, struck out six men (that's right, six!) in one inning of a league game.

Here's the way it went: The first batter up struck out, and the catcher hung onto the ball.

The next three batters struck out, but the catcher kept dropping third strikes, and all three got on base.

The fifth man walked. The sixth man struck out. The catcher dropped the ball, picked it up and threw to Jensen, who threw to the first baseman, who tagged out the runner. The runner had thought himself thrown out and stepped off base.

The seventh man struck out. The catcher hung onto the ball. Harvey muttered, "whew!"

Murphy Club Plays Charlestown Nine

Four Games Slated in Park League

After dropping a close decision to the St. Catherine's of Charlestown at the Barry Playground, the Star of the Sea Club of East Boston entertains the St. Alphonsus Club of Roxbury tonight at the American Legion Park, East Boston.

The Noddle Islanders plan to jump into the win column by knocking off the strong St. Alphonsus Club, who last night sat the Murphy Club of Brighton down by the score of 9-3.

Sectional rivalry in Roslindale will continue also with the Town Club playing the Holy Name A. A. of West Roxbury at the Healy Playground.

The "Townies" defeated their neighbors last night by the score of 4-2 being superb hitting and pitching of Joe Camale, who displayed major league form on the hill for the Townies.

The Maurice Murphy Club of Brighton will be at home at the Rogers Park Playground, Brighton, to the St. Catherine's of Charlestown in what should be a very hot game.

The "Saints" broke into the win column in the opening game with the Star of Sea and plan to continue so tonight at the expense of the Murphyites.

Dick Casey's Neponset Club will travel to the Lee Playground, South Boston, in the finale to meet the South Boston Town Team in a return match, the Caseys having defeated the boys from Southie in the opener last night at the Dorchester Town Field, before an unusually large crowd for an opening game.

Buddy Hasset's appearance in left field met with acclaim... He's been out of the lineup since April 27th when he hurt his finger at attempting a hunt in a game at Philly.

Fredrick Frankhouse made his initial appearance for the Bees an unfortunate one... relieving MacFayden who had been taken out for an eighth inning pinch runner, he retired first two ninth inning batters easily, score led 2 to 2.

Then was found for a double by Leo Handley, walked Pinch hitter Bell and was touched for the game winning double by Pitcher Jim Tobin on which Handley walked.

The Phillies came up with five runs in the eighth to chase Vander Meer.

Meer's 13th showers and to pull out an 8 to 7 win over the Reds... A series of home runs for the Athletics broke the Tigers for the latter's seventh straight loss.

The White Sox's 5 to 3 win over the Yanks shot the Red Sox back into first place.

Schoolboy Rowe is latest pitching casualty... Joe Sullivan, who goes for the Bees today, boasts a nasty knuckle ball...

ON THE SCENE. Johnstown, fresh from his Kentucky Derby triumph, arrives at Pimlico for the Preakness, which will be run Saturday. He will be an odds-on favorite, as he was in the $50,000 Blue Grass classic.

CHALLEDON CAN WIN IN MUD SAYS TRAINER

BALTIMORE, May 9 (AP)—"Here's Mud in Yer Eye, Johnstown," is the toast Trainer Lou Schaefer would like to propose to the winner of the Kentucky Derby.

Lou would like to say that after the Preakness Stakes at Pimlico Saturday.

He would like to see a rainy day, a muddy track and W. L. Brann's Challedon kicking mud in the eye of the horse which licked him in the Kentucky Derby.

Schaefer, who rode Dr. Freedland to a Preakness victory in 1929 and now trains Challedon, hopes it comes up just as sloppy this Saturday as it was last year when Dauber splashed to victory in the Maryland classic.

"Our only hope of beating Johnstown in the Preakness lies in the condition of the track," Schaefer said.

"If it's muddy, we may show the boys a winner. 'Challedon has proved to me that he is at home in the mud, while Johnstown has yet to show great mud-running ability.'"

For Johnstown's great victory in the Derby, Schaefer had nothing but praise.

"Before the Derby, there was some doubt about whether or not Johnstown could hold his great speed for a mile and a quarter," he said. "But when he crossed the line, he looked like he could run all day and part of the next."

Schaefer spoke reports George Seabo, Challedon's rider, might be replaced by Sonny Workman in the Preakness.

"I was well-pleased with George's ride in the Derby, and he will ride the horse again this Saturday," Schaefer said.

PHILLY AMATEURS WIN THREE CLASSES

Philadelphia's amateur team competing in the Inter-City tourney at the Boston Garden carried off honors in three of the six classes. Boston "pures" captured two titles while Gotham took honors in one class.

Pat Devine, of Cambridge, a late entry in the 175s, staged one of the night's best battles when he got off the floor after apparently being knocked cold and defeated Sergeant Charles Perry of Albany, N. Y., in the 175-pound final, but in the final William Sator of Philly, another added starter, gave Pat quite a pasting, dropping him three times in the second round to register a technical knockout victory.

William Speary of Philadelphia, national 118-pound champion, repeated a three-round victory over Domenico Peretti of Amsterdam, N. Y., Hearst all-American champion in the 118 final.

Tee Shots to Settle U.S. Title Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, May 9 (AP)—Good tee shots, Big Ed Dudley believes, may decide the winner of the national open golf championship here next month.

Dudley, one of the foremost golfers in the country, expressed his opinion after a practice round over the par 69 layout at the Spring Mill course of the Philadelphia Country Club where the open will be held.

"It's a very exciting tee shot course," the home town pro declared as he posted a 74 for the 6786-yard layout. "If you get off a good, accurate tee shot you are all right. But let that tee shot be out of line just a few feet and you are in trouble."

Jimmy Thomson, Byron Nelson, Ed Hogan, Jimmy Hines, Vic Ghezzi, Sam Byrd, Ted Turner and Leo Diegel, among the topflight golfers who got in practice rounds yesterday, agreed the course is "most exacting."

Thomson, recognized as one of the game's longest hitters, turned in a two-over-par 71 for the day's best card. However, he declared, along with others that the 480-yard 12th hole "is one of the toughest par four I've ever seen. Today I hit one of the best drives of my life and got home with a No. 3 iron. But no one will do that if weather conditions are bad."

Some of the other scores included: Nelson 73, Hines 73, Ghezzi 77, Turner 77, Diegel 77, Hogan 74 and Byrd 75—all well over par.

Boston Team Defeats Hollywood

The Boston White Shirt roller skating team scored a 14 to 11 victory over the Hollywood All Stars at the Boston Arena. Acting Mayor Murray fired the opening gun that started the two teams on the first of the 21-day grind.

Within three minutes after Councilor Murray sent off the two girl teams, Captain Jane Cummings, a brunet miss who hails from the metropolis of Chicago, broke loose from the pack and circled the entire other nine skaters to register the initial mark. Action broke fast and quickly and her partner, Captain Fuzzy Pierz, often termed the "clown of roller world," scored another for the Boston White Shirts.

At the end of the first half the score was tied through the efforts of speedy Jeanne Goette, brunet lass from Miami Beach, and her partner and co-captain, Joe Evans of Texas.

Five minutes before the close of the racing the "open house" was called and the scoreboard registered four points, divided between both teams. Racing will continue tonight and for the next 19 days.
